NO RUG Rust Cleaner

Description

NO RUG is a special product from the professional Faber range formulated to remove iron oxide from stones.

Properties

NO RUG removes iron oxide (rust) stains on unpolished stones and polished granite. This produce is effective either for superficial stains due to contact of metallic objects with the surface of the stone or iron oxide already existent inside the stone.

Where To Use

The product can be used on polished granite, unpolished marble, unpolished natural stones, porcelain stoneware (homogeneous tile) .

Application

Dilute the product 1 : 3 with water then spread the solution evenly onto the surface. Allow to act for several minutes or more until the stain have been removed then rinse with water. In order to avoid any reforming of these stains after some time, we suggest to make the second rinse with a solution of ANTIOX diluted 1 : 30 with water. When the surface will be dry, apply a thin coat of impregnator PRO TEX or ATS 60 stain proof impregnators to prevent further oxidation.

Note : Always make a preliminary test to check stone resistance to the product. NO RUG can be also used on marble and stones sensible to acids only in the working place before grinding and polishing.

Fortuitous Leakage And Waste Disposal Method

In case material is released or spilled, clean up most of the product. Store the residue in plastic tank, neutralize with a solution of caustic soda adjusting the pH to 6-7 then send to an appropriate water conditioner or call for a specialized company.
